32 Reported Killed in Mexican Seaboard Gale

ANOTHER STORM SWEEPING COAST OF MID-ATLANTIC

Member of Motorship Crew Washed Overboard as Wind Rolls Up Giant Seas Off Cape Hatteras, N. C.

BEACH DWELLERS FLEEING INLAND

North Carolina Coast Expected To Feel Full Force of Disturbance Early This Morning.

By the Associated Press.

Thirty-two persons were believed to have been killed in a tropical hurricane that raged down the Mexican seaboard Friday and at least two died in a gale lashing the central Atlantic coast.

The report of the 32 deaths came in a message to the New York office of the Pan-American Airways, Inc., from Tampico, Mexico, where 1,000 were said to be homeless. The storm tore down communication facilities, so that details of the damage were not received in the United States.

There were hurricane warnings and heavy seas from South Carolina to Norfolk. Chilly winds and a driving rain swept New York and the Jersey coast.

Off Cape Hatteras—Rough spot of the Atlantic coast—a sailor was swept to his death from the motorship Sun. A fisherman was reported drowned near Roanoke.

Small craft hugged their harbors. A wireless message from the Fryling Pan lighthouse said an 80 to 100-mile an hour wind was blowing 20 miles off the North Carolina coast late Friday.

32 DEAD, 1,000 HOMELESS IN MEXICAN HURRICANE

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 15. (AP)—A tropical hurricane of moderate intensity swept the countryside on the sparsely-settled Mexican coast between Brownsville and Tampico, Mexico, today, and caused two conflicting reports as to its toll.

New York office of Pan-American Airways, Inc., received a report from Tampico that 32 persons were believed killed and about 1,000 were made homeless.

No deaths were recorded in reports received here, however, and the hurricane damage was described as "minor."

Striking inland between Tampico and Brownsville, the storm unroofed a few homes in Tampico and sent huge waves against the shore. The Mexican tug Cernial was believed to have been lost.

A report from Tampico to the Pan-American air line, which said the hurricane reached 60 miles an hour last night, but the gales stopped early in the day.

A Mexican telegraph company office manager at Tampico notified his Galveston office at noon that the storm was "all over now; various houses have been unroofed but no serious damage done."

He added that heavy rains began after being deadlocked "six to six" overnight. The decision came after a second recharge in which Judge Humphries again told the jury that there was no coercion of Bowen involved in the case.

Len B. Guillebeau, attorney for Bowen, said that there will be no appeal, but that Bowen will begin serving his sentence. "We are, of course, disappointed that the jury found perjury or guilty, as we had hoped for exoneration," Guillebeau said. "Yet, we

New 'Cash-Carry' Plan Of Doctors Hit, Praised

Atlanta Medical Men Back Telfair Movement. Others Think Pledge Would Be Forgotten if Patient Needed Aid.

Indignation mingled with approval and sympathy Friday as college presidents, ministers, social workers, lawyers, jurists and doctors expressed opinions on the ethics of 13 Telfair county physicians who have banded together "not to visit anyone whose name appears on the delinquent or bad pay list except for cash in advance."

Few human questions or subjects have drawn more varied opinion than this matter of cash medical service. But through all the criticism and disapproval there ran one statement: "I never knew a doctor who would not administer to the sick in time of need."

Doctors for the greater part viewed the movement to place medical service on a paying basis as necessary. Some called attention to their own plight and one said he was behind with his office rent because his patients would not or could not pay for treatment given.

Doctors Defend Movement.

Several of the doctors pointed out that the movement to demand pay for services was "something to benefit the honest person as well as the delinquent." They said that by making all pay for medical attention, rates for calls and advice could be reduced to the general public.

Merrill Hutchinson, of 38 Eleventh street, N. E., a Christian Science practitioner, said he expected the movement to "result in a healthier citizenry for Telfair county because doctors give too much medicine anyway."

"However," Mr. Hutchinson added, "the adoption of such pledges is unthinkable and simply inhuman. Jesus said we should forgive our debtors and heal the sick and lame. Beside that point, the question of attending or not attending the sick because of any delinquency should rest as an individual matter with the physician."

Howard Riddleman, Plan. "I simply cannot conceive of a doctor, following a profession so humanitarian in its nature, declining to render aid to the poor devil because he is broke," said William Schley Howard, attorney and former congressman. "I believe that a patient could demand that the doctor give a guarantee of a correct diagnosis and correct treatment, if the doctor is so mercenary as to demand cash on the barrel, but you would have a devil of a chance of ever proving that the doctor was wrong."

"You see, when you get one doctor into court, he will never admit that another doctor is wrong. If you don't believe that, just sue one for malpractice. They form a sort of trust and stick closer together than the bark on a tree. If you sue one of them for cutting off the left leg when it was the right that was ailing, your doctor witnesses in court will testify that the right should have come off anyhow because it was rotten."

"Try and Prove It."

"But, if a patient gets a guarantee of correct diagnosis and correct treatment under their cash and honor plan of medical treatment, he would have a perfect right to be more critical than patients have been in the past of doctors' mistakes. And the patient could sue for heavy damages if the diagnosis and treatment were faulty,"

BOWEN GETS YEAR PHONE SLASH HIT IN KIDNAPING CASE AS 'CONFISCATORY'

Parole Seen for Youth Who Said He Entered Plot To Help Banker.

Pryor Bowen, 17-year-old Lavonia youth whose help in time of need saved John K. Ottley Sr., president of the First National Bank of Atlanta, from further discomfort at the hands of kidnapers, Friday was given a sentence of 12 months on the chain gang for his alleged part in the kidnaping, but with the ray of hope that good behavior would result in probation within a short time.

Bowen was convicted Friday morning by a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court, but was saved from a one to four-year sentence fixed by the jury when Judge Humphries followed the jury's recommendation that the crime be treated as a misdemeanor and passed the 12-month sentence.

Conviction of Bowen scored 100 per cent for Solicitor-General John A. Boykin in the Ottley kidnaping case, the principal defendant, William Randolph Delinski, having already received a total sentence of 21 to 28 years on conviction of kidnaping, robbery and carrying a concealed pistol without a license.

The Bowen jury reached a verdict after being deadlocked "six to six" overnight. The decision came after a second recharge in which Judge Humphries again told the jury that there was no coercion of Bowen involved in the case.

Len B. Guillebeau, attorney for Bowen, said that there will be no appeal, but that Bowen will begin serving his sentence. "We are, of course, disappointed that the jury found perjury or guilty, as we had hoped for exoneration," Guillebeau said. "Yet, we

GUERAN MOB ACTS BRING NEW THREAT OF INTERVENTION

One Minor Revolt Quelled, Another Is Rumored. Guard Surrounding Officers Increased.

By the Associated Press.

Additional diplomatic reports of disorders in Cuba led to the view in Washington quarters Friday that the possibility of American troops landing in that island republic had been greatly increased. There was no official declaration to this effect.

The new Cuban administration put down one rebellion in Pinar Del Rio province without bloodshed as it set to work making effective the new constitution promulgated Thursday. One of its acts was to indict the former secretary of interior on a number of charges. Another was to consolidate the departments of interior and war.

The most pressing problem facing the Cuban government was the continued challenge to its authority by the 600 army officers assembled in the Hotel Nacional. A light field piece, additional soldiers and augmented elements were placed around the building.

The reports reaching Washington mentioned a mob threatening an American ice factory at Manzanillo, the tense political situation at Santiago—where an army sergeant occupied the mayor's chair—and unsettled conditions at Cienfuegos and Avila.

Twenty-three American war vessels were listed in state department information as either standing by in Cuban ports or only a short distance away.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—A highly increased possibility that United States troops might be forced to land in Cuba was felt tonight by administration officials as diplomatic reports related threats of a mob against an American factory and other threatening trouble clouds gathering over the island.

Let information at the state department painted a dark picture. At Manzanillo, the southeastern coast, the department was advised that an increasingly tense labor situation had resulted in threats against an American-owned ice factory and a Spanish sugar plant.

The mob threatening at Santiago reported visiting Cristo, not far away, where 12 Americans were held, virtually as prisoners. He advised that the "Wobblies" had somewhat, but gave no word of the release of the men.

In Santiago, advice said, an army sergeant occupied the mayor's chair, while that official as well as the governor of the province were in hiding after handing in their resignations on heels of a communist demonstration.

Several Americans, the exact number unknown, were reported by the state department to be moving at all possible speed to either Havana or the United States naval base at Guantanamo bay, on the southeastern coast of the island. Hand here at to whether American troops were in the Manzanillo ice factory, not far away.

At the department, all questions as to how grave the situation was considered were left unanswered. The understanding was given that anything said officially might adversely affect the conditions in which the United States has not yet taken a hand.

At the White House, also, questions concerning the Cuban turmoil met with general silence, the word being that domestic problems were engaging President Roosevelt primarily.

In informed quarters elsewhere, the belief was expressed that the situation in the island as far as the United States was concerned had become more grave than at any time since President Roosevelt's arrival in office.

There have been constant reiterations by administration leaders that this country would avoid intervention in Cuba provided American lives were not endangered.

Should troops be called upon to protect Americans in any one locality, the United States would not apply the national intervention unless the local or national government was taken over by the armed forces.

The navy has lengthened its string of ships around the island. In all, it has 23 war vessels in Cuban waters.

East Point Battle Ends in Draw, Permit Rescinded, Show To Go On

East Point's fight over Sunday, charity movies ended Friday night in what might be called a draw—with each side getting what it wanted.

The churches, the P. C. A. and W. C. T. U. fought to have East Point council rescind a permit granted to sponsor a charity moving picture show Sunday afternoon, which council did.

But the American Legion will sponsor the show just the same, for Hal Old Sheets, city attorney of East Point, ruled that Sunday shows where all proceeds go to charity are permitted by the state law and that East Point has no ordinance preventing such shows.

A special session of council, called by Mayor Howard L. Carmichael, met

New Practices Also Will Set Minimum Age of "Inside" Miners at 17 Years.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—A committee of 18 leading bituminous coal operators tonight completed a code of fair competition which General Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, expected to hand to President Roosevelt tomorrow for his approval.

After working top-speed throughout the day to fulfill their promise to President Roosevelt that they would have the code completed tonight, the committee carried the completed draft to their hotel for ratification by the individual operators and coal associations they represented.

They believed ratification would be only a matter of hours. The code called for a maximum work week of 40 hours. Wages ranged from the contract rate of more than $5 in Rocky Mountain region to a still undetermined rate for Alabama. That state's mines received the lowest rate—$3 a day—in a previous administration-drafted code and was expected to obtain a lower minimum than that for any other production area in the new draft.

To the collective bargaining provision of the industrial recovery act was appended the "clarification" statement made August 24 by Johnson and Donald Richberg, administration counsel.

The code provided that miners should be paid by the ton except in cases where it was expected to obtain a lower minimum than that for any other production area in the new draft.

Deductions from pay in cash or checks, the code said, "if not a matter of agreement, shall be in conformity with such general rules and regulations as the administrator may prescribe for the purpose of preventing unfair deductions, or those which may in effect lower the rates of pay herein provided."

Miners would not be compelled to live in company houses or deal at company stores. No person under 17 years of age could be employed in the mine or in "hazardous occupations outside any mine." Persons less than 16 years of age could not be employed in or about a mine.

An agency to be named by the administrator.

ATLANTA TO ELECT DEMOCRATIC BODY

Committee Bows to Order of Court; 8 Qualify, Lists Close Today.

The sub-committee of the city democratic executive committee Friday night bowed to the order of the courts and decided to have a new executive committee selected to conduct Atlanta's white primaries.

Lists were opened for qualification and eight candidates qualified. Lists close at noon today, and all wishing to enter for Wednesday's voting, in which nominations will be made also for 25 other municipal posts, must do so by noon today at the city hall with their general secretary. Entrance fee was set at $10.

Committee members, headed by Dr. Sam Green, announced after the executive session of the sub-committee that the early closing was necessary in order to reprint ballots for all races in time for use Wednesday.

Dr. Green was given a rising vote of thanks for his services as a committee man and as chairman, on motion of W. R. Bentley, thirteenth ward committeeman. His service was praised and the innovations "he has made in the interest of a clean white primary and his devotion to the cause" were lauded.

The third annual school for election managers and clerks, one of the innovations introduced by Dr. Green, preceded the sub-committee meeting. It was well attended.

"I am sorry that this act was not taken earlier," Dr. Green said.

2 ATLANTANS DEAD IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

J. S. Ramey, 21, and W. J. Blanton, 17, Killed; Mallett's Condition Serious.

Two Atlantans were dead and State Senator Joel B. Mallett, of Jackson, was in a critical condition at an Atlanta hospital Friday as the result of automobile accidents in Decatur and Tallapoosa.

James S. Ramey, 21, of 424 Broyles street, S. E., was killed Thursday night while driving the car in which Senator Mallett was injured. Several others also were hurt in the collision of the car and a truck in Tallapoosa. Ramey was the son of R. F. Ramey, service manager of the Piedmont hotel.

William J. Blanton, 17-year-old milk delivery boy, of 175 Fair street, S. W., received fatal injuries early Friday morning when he slipped and fell beneath the milk truck on Adams street, in Decatur. He died a few hours later at the Georgia Baptist hospital of a fractured skull.

Condition Remains Serious. At the Emory University hospital, where the state senator was taken, Mallett said his condition remained serious. Dr. Willis Jones, his physician, said Mallett had a concussion of the brain, a small fracture of the skull and other head injuries. The doctor said the Jackson man was doing well Friday afternoon and had a good chance to recover. The injured man was unconscious.

Ramey was unidentified until Friday afternoon when identification was made possible by tracing laundry

DEMOCRATIC AD TUCKER MAY QUIT

Walters Said Relegated to Background as Republican Runs Department.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Theodore A. Walters, of Idaho, first assistant secretary of the interior, was understood authoritatively today to be seriously considering handing his resignation to President Roosevelt and Secretary Ickes as a protest against the way the department is being run.

Walters, in answer to a direct question, smilingly said: "I have no present intention of resigning."

Coupled with the reports of the contemplated resignation, current in senatorial circles as well as among friends of the official was the private statement of several legislators that E. K. Burlew, aide to former Secretary Wilbur, was directing the department.

Such a situation was described as back of Walters' present attitude. Friends of the Idahoan said that Ickes instead of relying upon Walters to run the department, had turned to Burlew, his administrative assistant.

Native of Pennsylvania, Burlew, a native of Sunbury, Pa., came to Washington 23 years ago, under civil service rules, and first was in the war department. For five years he was secretary to the assistant postmaster-general under President Wilson.

He went to the interior department 11 years ago, serving in recent years as assistant to Secretary Wilbur.

The appointment of Walters as first assistant secretary was insisted upon by western democratic senators, who demanded a westerner of their own party in a high position in that department. It handles the major affairs of the west. Ickes is a republican.

Walters was indignant to the White House by virtually all the western states' democratic delegations, who advocated for appointment by Senator Pope, democrat, Idaho, along with spokesmen for the other western commonwealths.

Committee Chairman.

Walters is chairman of the Idaho democratic committee. What connection there might be between his attitude and the recent disclosure of senatorial hostility toward Ickes was not made clear. Some senators have charged that Ickes chose republicans instead of democrats for places in his department.

Walters, now 56, was attorney-general of Idaho for some time and was president of the state bar association when he left his home at Caldwell, to come to Washington last March as assistant secretary of the interior.

Those familiar with conditions in the department asserted that Walters had been delegated by Ickes to handle the purely routine matters of trivial importance, instead of taking care of issues vital to the western states.

TALMADGE "TRIES" SPEED-TRAP TOWNS

about speed traps. Once while motoring through Alabama between Montgomery and Atlanta he encountered one of them to the tune of seven and a half. Again in Clarkston he dipped into another but the copper was a brother agriculturist and let him off.

Friday the governor's car, around looking into Governor Sholtz's complaint. He summoned Chief Hawkins, the mayor of Lula, who sent Mayor Pro Tem C. T. Talbott, of Georgia, and Mayor W. R. Scales, of Bell County, to the scene.

Down from Clarkston and the surrounding towns came a large delegation, many of them businessmen, to hear the hearing of the speed trap had routed themselves to other reports.

Chief among the complainants from Clarksville were Sheriff C. P. Wilbanks, County Ordinary F. G. Gabers, Attorney John E. Frankum, W. R. Reeves, keeper of the Mountain View hotel and other citizens. Talbott, E. Church, who handed over five bucks to Chief Hawkins not later than Wednesday.

Atlanta Victim Attends.

To the kangaroo court also came Victim O. H. Starnes, of Atlanta, to get something or other for the $5 he left in Bellton-Lula.

For almost an hour the delegation told its story. Hard times had come because motorists were taking other routes and even the citizens of north Georgia are being forced to pay tolls.

Up spoke Mayor Pro Tem Talbott and Mayor Scales. The common complaint of both towns had decided that because of so many accidents on the highway they decided to put on a cop. They did it to protect the lives of their wives and their children.

Under the agreement with Hawkins, the officials said he was to receive half of the money taken in in fines and forfeited bonds.

They reported that Chief Hawkins took in $55, was the banner business day. No person who put up a bond ever appeared in court to fight the case. In Bellton a total of $800 was collected in nine weeks. Of this Chief Hawkins got $300.

The chief furnished his own motorcycle and paid for his own gas, oil and repairs.

Then the chief rose to speak.

Chief Defends Arrests.

"I have been on this job four months," he said. "During that time I never have arrested any one who was doing less than 40 miles an hour. For the first three weeks I issued warnings. Then we had warnings put up at the city limits and I thought that these, posted on each side of the two towns, was enough."

Hawkins said there had been reports circulated that he made from $800 to $500 on July 4, but this he vigorously denied.

"I always have treated everyone fairly and have shown equal justice to all," he said. "About three weeks ago, when Governor Sholtz drove through I timed him and he was going 60 miles an hour. He told me who he was but I told him we treated everyone alike. I gave him a copy and took his $5. I have always treated everyone with courtesy and have always been gentlemanly."

About this time a messenger boy appeared with a telegram from the Gainesville Kiwanis Club asking the governor to do something to protect the public.

Mr. Church then spoke in rebuttal, asserting that when Hawkins pinched him Wednesday he cursed him and told him that if he didn't life it, he'd get put in jail.

Governor Hits System.

Then the governor had something to say.

"I know what these speed traps are,

Mayor Key Heads List of Eastern Air Transport's Guests On Inaugural Night Flight From Atlanta to New York

Passengers who flew the first trip of the new Eastern Air night service to New York are shown beside the giant 18-passenger liner shortly before taking off early Friday night. Left to right are Pilot G. W. Bransom, G. H. Robertson, of Cleveland; J. M. Jones, of Birmingham; E. B. Landry, of Atlanta; Mayor James L. Key, Henry Ahrens, of Atlanta; H. G. Telsey, Harvard student, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Alva Sole, of Atlanta; Charles Myers, co-pilot, and Miss Carrie De Priest, hostess. John K. Ottley Jr., and the mayors of several North and South Carolina cities also made the journey. Staff photo by George Corngit.

The first night air-passenger service in the south, and one which provides close connections in a Pacific coast-New York transcontinental route, was inaugurated Friday night by Eastern Air Transport, Inc.

At 7:30 o'clock Friday night a luxurious 18-passenger Curtiss-Condor, carrying Mayor James L. Key, of Atlanta; J. M. Jones Jr., president of the city commission of Birmingham; Alva Sole, assistant secretary of the city of Atlanta, and others, took off from Candler field on a new schedule due to put them in New York at 5:40 o'clock this morning.

On board the giant plane that left Friday night, in addition to Key, Jones and Sole, were G. W. Bransom, pilot; Charles Myers, co-pilot; Miss Carrie De Priest, hostess; John K. Ottley Jr., Eastern Air executive, and several others, including E. B. Landry, who purchased the first ticket for the trip.

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, noted war pilot, was not able to make the trip as he was announced.

A similar plane from New York was due to arrive in Atlanta at 5:20 o'clock this morning.

Mayors of five states, including Georgia, have written E. A. T. officials praising the new schedule, which makes New York an overnight trip from Atlanta.

On board the giant plane that left Friday night, in addition to Key, Jones and Sole, were G. W. Bransom, pilot; Charles Myers, co-pilot; Miss Carrie De Priest, hostess; John K. Ottley Jr., Eastern Air executive, and several others, including E. B. Landry, who purchased the first ticket for the trip.

Alabama national guard, accompanied the huge night liner to New York in the morning, leading the way over the air route.

The new night planes are capable of flying 170 miles per hour, fully loaded with passengers, crew, express and mail.

The service which began here Friday night provides close connection for New York-bound passengers arriving here from the southwest and the Pacific coast and for travelers from the east bound through Atlanta for the west. Before the inauguration of the night service, passengers were forced to spend the night here before completing the transcontinental journey.

CANDIDATES TALK AT CAPITOL VIEW

Councilman Curtis and Opponent, W. Garland
Cooper, Make Speeches.

Candidates for the city-wide positions for which nominations will be made in Wednesday's primary and for the councilmanic post from the tenth ward, Friday night pleaded for votes at a meeting at Capitol View school rally in the tenth ward.

Councilman J. Raymond Curtis, incumbent, opposed by former Councilman W. Garland Cooper, was host.

All city-wide candidates were present or were represented.

"I have called this meeting for a two-fold purpose," Curtis said. "I wanted to give an account of my activities and to permit voters of the tenth ward to see those who are offering for the aldermanic positions."

"Since I have been a member of council, my ballots have been cast for the good of the citizens of Atlanta. Every one has been fair. I have tried to use good business judgment during a most trying period. I have made mistakes, and will make more, but you will get the best service I am capable of giving."

"My ability has been demonstrated. My record is there. It is one of achievement for honest, economical government in the interest of the taxpayers and against special interests of a few."

"I have been a member of council and you know the kind of representative I made," Cooper said. "If you want my kind of work there, vote for me; if you do not, you will have to vote for Mr. Curtis. We are friends, but I am seeking the job to which you previously have elected me four times."

Ernest Brewer, tenth ward school commissioner, presided at the meeting.

All city-wide candidates were invited to speak this afternoon at a fish fry to be given at Maddox park under the auspices of the Western Heights Baptist church. The affair will begin at 7:30 p. m. and continue until 7 p. m. The police and firemen's bands and a baseball game during the afternoon will be features.

Curtis has called another rally for 7:30 o'clock Monday night at the Adair school, and second ward citizens will meet at 7:30 Monday night at the Georgia Avenue school to hear candidates for various offices.

WOODIN PREDICTS YEAR-END SURPLUS

Treasury Secretary Returns to Desk Following Long Illness.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Looking fit and smiling cheerily, Secretary Woodin returned to his desk today after a long illness and told newspapermen he thought the treasury might show a surplus when the books are balanced at the end of the fiscal year.

Revenues are increasing in all their classifications, he said, adding that he looked for a tremendous upward surge between January 1 and June 30, when the fiscal year closes.

He regarded repeal of the eighteenth amendment as "probable" and predicted it would be a great help to the nation's fiscal officers in their effort to make the government's accounts balance.

As he spoke, internal revenue officials throughout the country were occupied with their quarterly busy day.

Treasury officials pointed out, however, that in this sort of a comparison it must be borne in mind that this year's receipts included $28,299,918 from the processing tax on farm products, most of which eventually will be paid out as benefits to farmers.

They called attention, too, to the fact that the books of this fiscal year hardly have felt the beneficial effect of income tax collection. The installment due today—estimated at approximately $135,000,000—was the first to fall in the current fiscal year.

Thus far the revenues from this source have been $47,335,851 in payments on back taxes. December payments are expected to yield about $125,000,000. The bulk of income tax revenue will come next March 15, when initial payments are made on the tax upon 1933 incomes.

Woodin declined to predict the yield from liquor taxes, when and if prohibition is repealed.

3 Get Hearing Today In Killing of Jack Lee

Three persons held in connection with the fatal shooting of Jack Lee, on South Pryor street last Tuesday night, will be tried before Recorder A. W. Callaway at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, according to the detectives who investigated the shotgun killing.

Attorneys for the three have asked that they be tried separately, the detectives said, and as a consequence Macy Zaring will be tried for murder and Alvin Speer and Mrs. Billie Rogers on charges of assault with intent to murder. The recorder only has power to bind them over to the grand jury for action.

CUBAN MOB ACTS BRING NEW THREAT OF INTERVENTION

ters, including a concentration of night destroyers at the Guantanamo base.

HAVANA, Sept. 15.—The new Cuban government today disposed of one revolution, heard rumors of another uprising and took stronger measures against 500 former army officers who have barricaded themselves in the Hotel Nacional to give point to their demands that Ramon Grau San Martin step out as president.

Dr. Grau San Martin conferred in secret tonight with representatives of the most powerful opposition political factions and was understood to have turned a deaf ear to demands that he resign.

A few hours after the new Cuban government had disposed of its first revolution and heard rumors of another uprising, representatives of five powerful groups met the president in a private house and demanded that he yield to a regime including representation from all factions.

It was learned on highest authority he gave no indication he intended to comply.

The army general staff announced that approximately 20 rebels who started a subversive movement last night in Pinar Del Rio province had surrendered near Consolacion Del Sur. They were under the leadership of Captain Fernando Aran.

Reports said to have come over government telegraph wires stated that Captain Juan Blas Fernandez, veteran rebel against the former President Gerardo Machado, again was in arms near Sancti Spiritus in Santa Clara province. Three hundred men were said to be with him.

Artillery in Position.

Army forces under Colonel Fulgencio Batista, erstwhile sergeant who advanced to the rank of chief of staff in the enlisted men's movement which placed Grau San Martin in the presidency, increased the guard around the National hotel, set up additional machine guns and dragged up a 2.9-inch field piece.

The field piece was trained directly upon the tall hotel, while additional rifles and submachine guns were issued to the soldiers on guard outside.

One cavalry battalion and two squadrons of infantry were dispatched to Pinar Del Rio province prior to the reports that Aran had surrendered.

Thirteen Americans who retained their quarters at the hotel several days despite its embattled condition were understood to have vacated today. Six hotel executives, including Will H. Taylor, the manager, remained at their posts despite the fact the employees have struck.

Only Welles Admitted.

Soldiers on guard at the hotel ground said they had orders to let no one enter or leave "except the American ambassador" (Sumner Welles). Not even Colonel Horacio Ferrer, officers' spokesman, was permitted to pass.

A physician, Dr. Jose Lorie, who called upon the sick officer, was arrested as he left. Two women stand-

'Chofetz Chaim,' 105, Succumbs in Poland

WILNO, Poland, Sept. 15.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The famed "Chofetz Chaim," venerated by orthodox Jews throughout the world as one of the 31 saints because of whose piety the world has not been destroyed, died today in the village of Radu near here, where he had spent most of his 105 years.

He had been ill for a short time.

The "Chofetz Chaim," whose real name was Rabbi Yisroel Meier Ha-Cohen, had been a figure of almost legendary proportions for almost half a century.

The rabbi in 1875 published a book in Hebrew, the "Chofetz Chaim," listing all the forms of slander from which a pious Jew must guard himself.

He became known throughout the world as a Talmudic scholar and many of his works treating exhaustively of the regulation of the Jewish religion have been accepted as the definitive interpretation.

COAL OPERATORS COMPLETE CODE

ministration would report on or before December 31, 1933, on the advisability of revising wages and hours.

A conference of employees and employers associations held in Washington January 5 to determine whether such revisions should be made.

The hours and wages, unless revised at the conference, would be effective until April 1, 1934.

A long list of "unfair practices," such as shipping unconsumed coal, would be banned.

Priests could be established by marketing agencies that represented two or more districts or by divisional code authorities where no marketing agency existed.

For administrative purposes, the coal fields would be divided into five regions.

They would be:

(1) Pennsylvania, Ohio, the lower peninsula of Michigan, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky, northern Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina.

(2) Iowa, Indiana and Illinois.

(3) Alabama, southern Tennessee and Georgia.

(4) The southwestern states.

(5) The northern producing states west of the Mississippi.

Each would have a divisional code authority to be made up of representatives of associations of producers, miners and one representative of the president of the United States.

The authority would collect and compile any data required by the recovery act, and investigate complaints of unfair practices.

A national bituminous coal board, composed of fully designated representatives from the Appalachian region, two from Illinois-Indiana-Iowa and one from each of the other divisions, together with the five members of the divisional authorities appointed by the president and the recovery act, would be the governing body.

Adjustment of disputes between operators and miners would be settled, if possible, by conference and negotiation between fully designated representatives of both sides in mine district or division conferences.

aimed apparently directly at me, and that I have caused any members of the committee embarrassment," Green said. "The courts have adjudicated the matter of whether they shall control the primary in Atlanta. I bow to that ruling and we will elect a new committee in compliance with the legislative enactment."

"I have given of my time and efforts to give voters of Atlanta a clean 'D' vote, and I am as interested in the primary that I now pledge my whole-hearted co-operation to whoever is selected to conduct future primaries in this city."

Dr. Green is not eligible to offer to succeed himself, as the law forcing selection of another committee precluded that a person must have lived in the ward he represents for at least two years prior to the date of the election. Dr. Green has lived in the thirteenth ward only 23 months.

Absentee Voting Deferred.

No action was taken on a council resolution seeking to introduce a system of absentee voting in Wednesday's primary. The committee decided the time was too short to evolve working details, but voted to refer the proposal, made by Alderman G. Everett Lillian, of the tenth ward, to the incoming committee.

Under the absentee act, the representation on the committee from each of the wards is reduced from four to one, outwards the committee from a body of 52 to 13.

Each ward qualified Friday night for executive committee positions by paying the $10 fee were:

Albert W. Gossett, third ward; G. C. Smith, fourth; Seb W. Sharp, fifth; Fred P. Gibbs, ninth; Tom C. Smith and William J. Laney, tenth; S. P. Winburn, eleventh, and W. R. Beutler, thirteenth.

Two Referrals To Appear.

The committee formally voted not to include a referendum which sought an expression from the voters on public ownership of utilities to go to the ballot Wednesday. Thus only the referendum concerning Sunday baseball and Sunday movies will appear.

Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton county superior court, Friday delivered a special charge to the grand jury in which he advised that body to delve into charges of illegal irregular registrations for the municipal primary. There have been charges that non-residents are registered, that the names of deceased persons appear on the lists and that minors added their names.

Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and his staff have been conducting a probe of the alleged irregularities, and grand jury action is expected.

marks in his clothes. His father was notified and went to Tallapoosa, where he made arrangements to bring the body to Atlanta Friday night. Several arrangements will be announced by Awtry & Lowndes.

A. W. Allen, chief of police at Tallapoosa, said Senator Mallett was injured and Ramey killed almost instantly when Mallett's car, driven by Ramey, collided with a truck operated by Charles Hunter, of Atlanta.

Two other Atlantans, C. M. White, 1342 Mays avenue, and C. W. Milligan, of 825 Kirkwood avenue, were in the car but were not seriously hurt. They returned to Atlanta late Thursday night after being questioned by police.

Car Struck Heavy Van.

McRae was driving a moving van loaded with furniture and occupied by a family named Dooey, none of whom was seriously hurt.

Young Blanton was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. H. Blanton, of 178 Fair street. He was employed by Dairy Pedigree Distributors as delivery boy and was returning from delivering a bottle of milk to a house on Adams street, Decatur, when he slipped beneath the heavy moving truck. His skull was fractured and he received internal injuries when a rear wheel passed over his body. Glenn Blanton, a younger brother, was on the truck and saw his brother fall to his death.

A. M. Hand, driver of the truck, was technically charged with reckless driving by Decatur police, to whom he was taken to the hospital.

Besides his parents, Blanton is survived by several other brothers and sisters. Funeral arrangements are to be announced by Harry G. Poole.

by granny," he mused. "Several years ago I got bilked for seven and a half over in Alabama and I burn up every time I hear the name of the town mentioned. Then down in Clarkston I got pinched, but they let me off. I know when all of these folks made complaints there is something wrong."

In the first place the towns shouldn't hire a police force on a percentage basis. He should be paid so much a month. Also the speed limit of 20 miles an hour is too low. Even here in Atlanta where traffic is much worse the limit is 30 miles an hour. You ought to have a red light in your town to let the people know there is trouble there. I myself didn't know where Bellton was. 'Too, it is a very bad practice when you let the policeman take the bond. They don't do it here in Atlanta and they enforce the traffic laws here better than anywhere I have ever seen. Those boys won't take any money. If they don't think you are going to show up they'll take you down and let you arrange bond at the station."

"Should Raise Limit."

"Therefore, I think the towns ought to do several things. They first ought to raise the speed limit. Then they ought to hire a police force by the month and they ought to make the mayor hold court whenever anyone is in trouble and not put it off and make the folks come back. Lastly they ought to put up a light so that the folks could know where the town is."

With that the officials of Bellton and Lula promised co-operation and the assembled complainants promised thanks. What will be done remains to be seen.

Once before when the governor couldn't get the action he wanted he called on the state militia and it may be significant that after Friday's "trial" he turned to Adjutant General Lindley W. Camp and said:

"Lindley, take a ride through Bellton and Lula in a couple of weeks and let me know how you make out."

TWO MEN ARE WOUNDED IN COAL FIELD DISORDERS

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Two men were gunned wounds today in Pennsylvania's coal strike, in which 37,000 miners are demanding that a coal code be adopted without delay.

Despite the two shootings, the situation generally remained quiet as state police maintained the utmost vigilance throughout the mining districts.

C. H. Yauger, 57, was taken to a hospital in a serious condition from a wound he said was inflicted when he attempted to enter the Edenborn mine of the H. C. Frick Company in Westmoreland county. Carol Stohl, 30, was shot in the leg by pickets at another Frick mine.

An additional 1,200 miners walked out in Westmoreland county today, closing the Humphreys, Keystone and Jamison company mines.

All mines in Washington county with the exception of three belonging to the Bethlehem Steel Corporation are now closed, affecting a total of 11,000 men.

Fayette county remained quiet throughout the day.

BOARD RESTORES 10 PER CENT CUT

Finance Committee's Action Expected To Get Quick Approval Monday

Voting to raise the salaries of 4,300 municipal employees 10 per cent effective as of September 15, the finance committee of council Friday afternoon paved the way for Atlanta's co-operative participation in "the spirit of NRA" and sent the measure to council for sanction Monday.

In addition, the committee, under the leadership of Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, exempted all employees making $100 or less from any salary cuts and at the insistence of Councilman J. Raymond Curtis, of the tenth ward and chairman of the board of firemen, set up $4,700 to retain the services of 21 firemen for the remainder of the year. The extra firemen had been added to work during the vacation period.

Every employee of the municipality, including about 1,800 in the school department, will benefit from the salary restoration voted Friday. The $171,000 was added in salary accounts.

One Cut To Remain.

The increase will leave only a 10 per cent slash effective in higher brackets.

Estimated costs of the restoration of the 10 per cent as furnished by B. Graham West, city comptroller, showed that it will take $73,000 for the 2,500 non-school employees, and $98,000 for the 1,800 employees of the school department for the remainder of the year.

John W. Grant was voted $10,000 on the sum he lent the city for reconstruction of the Whitehall street viaduct and another $1,600 was set up for purchase of stop signs to replace those worn out.

Restoration of the 10 per cent was made possible through a report of the tax assessors, who said property taxes as carried on the digest for the year totaled $337,759,808, or $12,759,808 more than anticipated. It was estimated that this would furnish about $175,000 more revenue than was anticipated when the January finance sheet was compiled.

Passage Anticipated.

Passage of the proposed salary hike was anticipated in council Monday, as the finance committee, following recommendation of Mayor James L. Key in voting the restoration of the funds.

Alderman W. W. Waits, chairman of council's school committee, insisted that funds adequate to provide for restoration of the salaries of school employees be included. He encountered no opposition, all members of the committee concurring in Key's announcement that "I want all employees fed from the same spoon in this matter."

Only a total of about $123,000 was added to the June finance sheet in making up the salary increases, but $88,000 was transferred from the school contingent account to available funds with the understanding that school expenditures for the year shall not exceed 30 per cent of the actual receipts of the municipality.

DR. LOUIE NEWTON LAUDS CAMPAIGN FOR GOOD DRIVING

Crediting the efforts of The Constitution and Loew's Grand theater to encourage careful driving in Atlanta as having fruitful results, Dr. Louie D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, Friday said he believed the "encouragement offered motorists to be cautious and careful has reduced traffic accidents."

Dr. Newton was elected on the honor roll a few days ago. He along with others were selected for careful driving. Again today a representative of The Constitution will observe traffic and select ten more drivers for enrollment and to receive guest tickets to Loew's Grand.

Those selected Friday are: Moselle Horton, 1049 Reader circle; C. D. Hart, 575 Courtney drive; A. L. Garrett, 456 Washington street; C. E. Powell, 742 Barnhill avenue; W. S. Cotten, 688 Costello avenue; W. Tom Callahan, 108 Chatsworth avenue, East Point, Ga.; Jessie H. Short, 90 Palmetto street; John Milledge, Decatur, Ga.; Louise Althoff, 919 West Peachtree street; Wesley Hirschberg, 381 Forrest avenue.

DELEGATIONS DELAY STATE ROAD PROGRAM

The state highway board cannot possibly begin mapping its program for the expenditure of the state's $10,000,000 share of the federal highway fund before the middle of next week, Chairman J. J. Mangham said Friday.

"The board has been busy all of this week hearing delegations and have many more to hear," Mr. Mangham said. "We cannot give the necessary time to the program as long as folks are appearing before us and making known their wants."

The chairman said the board desired to give everyone a reasonable hearing and that the actual mapping of the program would be held up as long as the delegations continued to pour in.

'Scotty' Proves Fickle Gal, Takes on New Kitten Pal

"Scotty" and her new-found friend.

Scotty is fickle—out of sight, out of mind—she's taken on another kitten pal.

The terrier raved, whined and otherwise displayed indications of a premeditated tantrum the other day when Amos, her kitten pal since the cat's birth, was taken to a new home. For three days she moped around the Humane Society's home for all sorts of pets until the pangs of parting were sort of salved, and she gave up hope of ever seeing Amos again.

Then Scotty discovered Ruby Taylor, Amos' friend. Now there is a pal, thought the lonesome terrier, and straightaway made peace with a common enemy.

Friday Scotty rubbed noses with Ruby. The kitten was willing and snuggled up close.

Amos was forgotten in new-found bliss.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

By H. A. CARTER

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Sept. 15.—I am told by the Tidewater division of the state department of game and fish that whenever any dredging operations are going on that fossil shark teeth are brought up in tremendous numbers. These teeth range in size from about an inch to six inches or more in length and are black, save for the outer coating of enamel, which is a grayish brown. The edges of the teeth are slightly serrated, as if the enamel had been applied in two layers and pinched together over the tooth with a sharp-pointed tool. These teeth are surprisingly heavy. I have had no opportunity to weigh them, but they seem to weigh at least two pounds in six-inch specimens. This is merely guesswork, however, and must not be considered a serious estimate.

These fossil teeth are found not only at the coast, but as far north as the geological fall line, which crosses the state from Augusta to Macon and thence to Columbus. The entire area south of this line was under water until comparatively recent time, geologically speaking. I have seen specimens which were found in grading operations at Augusta.

Of course, estimations of the probable size of these ancient sharks must be made on the basis of comparisons of these enormous teeth with the teeth of living species. Such a method is

'Mell Bob' Ends Life When Ordered To Leave His Restaurant Untended

"Mell Bob," Greek restaurant operator, came to the end of his row Friday.

He shot himself to death in a rear room of his cafe at 547 West Hunter street, as deputy city marshals waited in the front to take him to recorder's court where he faced a charge of violation of the city license ordinance.

"Mell Bob" was not his real name but he was known by it to the many who frequented his small cafe. Friends in the Greek colony in Atlanta said he was really Milton Varracous and told a strange tale of life.

Varracous came to this city years ago with a brother, who has been dead for several years. They set up a small cafe and for a time prospered. During the last two years the surviving brother had suffered financial setbacks which had made him despondent, the friends said.

$2,600 Holdup Foiled, Young Bandit Caught

A daring daylight holdup involving $2,600 was frustrated and the robber captured within a minute Friday afternoon when Tommy Thomas, 20, of 117 Little street, was arrested after slugging R. H. Organ, paymaster of Jacob's Pharmacy, on Auburn avenue near Courtland, according to police reports.

Organ, who was returning to Jacob's headquarters at 77 Auburn avenue from the First National bank with $2,600 in cash, was struck with a blackjack by Thomas, who grabbed the bag and ran. Amazed pedestrians saw the robbery and quickly gave chase to the fleeing thief.

The bandit was caught by N. J. Day, operator of a parking lot at 107 Edgewood avenue, who said that the man, running fast, came into his lot from Courtland street with the money satchel in his hands. Day said that he heard the pursuer shout to stop the fleeing man, and hearing the money clink in the satchel as the bandit dropped it, he gave chase and caught him 30 to 35 yards after tripping him up and holding him for police.

EX-CONVICT INVITED TO TELL MURDER STORY

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Nathan Mayo, state prison director, today invited James H. Travis, pardoned Florida convict, to elaborate on his published charges that he witnessed "six murders in Florida chain camps," and that "nothing was done about five of them."

Characterizing the death of Arthur Maillefer, who strangled in a sweat box at Sunbeam camp near Jacksonville last year as "the only murder that leaked out, although the others were just as brutal," Travis' charges were published in a New York newspaper (The Sunday Mirror) last Sunday.

George Washington Courson, former captain of Sunbeam camp, is now appealing a 20-year sentence imposed after his conviction of manslaughter in the Maillefer case.

BONDHOLDERS ATTACK ARKANSAS REFUNDING

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Launching an attack upon the state's new $146,000,000 bond refunding program, Arkansas highway bondholders today obtained a temporary injunction from federal Judge John E. Martineau, restraining State Treasurer Roy V. Leonard from paying out any gasoline or motor vehicle tax funds except upon direct state road obligations and for operation of the highway department.

RICHMOND GETS FIRST U. S. FUND

West Georgia County's $710,000 Application Is Approved by Ickes.

Realization of Georgia's $60,000,000 share of the emergency public works funds came nearer Friday when Richmond county, granted $710,000 for construction of schools, became the first political sub-division to have a project approved by Harold L. Ickes, public works administrator.

The Georgia public works advisory board has requested the state and the political sub-divisions to rush their lists of projects from each community in order that President Roosevelt's $3,000,000,000 public works program may be placed in operation as quickly as possible to stimulate business and provide employment for persons who lost their jobs during the depression.

Although the Georgia constitution forbids the state and political sub-divisions to incur debts greater than seven per cent of the taxable property, this constitutional inhibition is causing administration officials in Washington to explore plans for circumventing it, it was said. An amendment to the public works bill by Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, permits the president to waive legislative limits of loans where there is a state constitutional inhibition blocking the way.

Delegations from Washington, Ga., and Hapeville appeared Friday before the Georgia advisory board, which included Thomas J. Hamilton, of Augusta; Ryburn G. Clay, of Atlanta; and Arthur Lucas, of Savannah and Atlanta, Mayor Lloyd Johnson headed the Washington party, which sought funds for sewers, paving, a hospital addition, a city hall and athletic field, totaling $30,000. The Hapeville delegation, headed by Mayor Quincy O. Arnold, sought $150,000 for waterworks and sewers.

Woman Scalds Boy, $17 Fine Suspended

Miss Alice B. Smith, 50, of 1095 Blue Ridge avenue, N. E., drew a suspended sentence in recorder's court Friday on charges of throwing scalding water on James Smith, the small son of a neighboring family with whom she had quarreled.

A fine of $17 was imposed by Judge John L. Cone on a disorderly conduct charge made Thursday by police against Miss Smith, but was suspended when the woman promised to move from the neighborhood within 10 days.

Machado Is Aroused By Sealing of Boxes

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Gerardo Machado, deposed president of Cuba, today described as "pure robbery" the sealing of strong boxes in a Havana bank rented under the name of Senora Machado.

"The contents of the vault," he said, "are my wife's private fortune and the jewelry belongs to her, my daughters and a friend of my wife's. The jewels are family possessions that have long been in our family."

He placed the total value of the contents at about $100,000.

RESTAURATEUR JAILED ON WOMAN'S CHARGES

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Theodore Economako, 40, a paroled convict, has been sentenced to a year in the house of correction and fined $1,000 on a charge of pandering after his arrest on a complaint filed by Miss Margaret La Gette, 28, who said she was a nurse from Jacksonville, Fla.

Miss La Gette charged Economako and his brother, Nick, kept her a prisoner for a year in a room above their restaurant and forced her to associate with patrons of the place. Nick was held under $5,000 bond awaiting trial. Theodore was given 60 days in which to appeal and the judge said he would be forced to serve the remainder of his penitentiary term after his release from the house of correction.

By JAY ORR JR.

Saturday is one of the best days in the week for you to visit the stores and get your Ad-Writing paper absolutely free so that you may enter the $1,300 cash prize Ad-Writing Contest.

The Ad-Writing Contest is now on in full force. More and better ads are being entered each week and if you are not trying to win one of the 21 prizes offered each week, you are overlooking an opportunity of winning enough money to do all of your Christmas shopping.

You may possess unusual ability for ad writing and it will never be discovered unless you try. It's easy to write an ad. All you have to do is to call at any of the 27 co-operating stores and ask for official Ad-Writing paper. It will be given to you absolutely free. The next thing you do is conceive an idea and put that idea on the official paper.

You need not be able to paint, print or draw well. The ad may be written in longhand, or it may be typewritten. It may be written in pencil or in ink, but it must be written. A new display of advertisements has been put on the walls at Ad-Writing headquarters and all contestants are invited to view headquarters and see it. The criticisms posted at the bottom of each advertisement will be of great benefit to those contestants who wish to improve their ads.

If you have not entered this interesting and profitable contest, start today. Get your official Ad-Writing paper, write your ads and enter them next Wednesday at Ad-Writing Headquarters, 187 Peachtree Arcade.

BURGLAR STABS MAN PROTECTING HIS WIFE

Glenn Morrow, of 973 Pelham street, was stabbed and beaten Friday morning when he sought to protect his wife from attack by a negro burglar, according to police reports. Morrow said the burglar entered their room, ransacked it and got $19 in cash. The negro attempted to grab Mrs. Morrow but the husband engaged in a hand-to-hand struggle with him. The burglar stabbed Morrow in the shoulder with an ice pick and beat him in the face with his fist but broke away before police could be summoned. Morrow was treated at a hospital for his injuries.

Tobacco Growers Pledge Crop Cuts

Georgians May Receive $2,400,000 Under Retroactive Processing Tax.

TIFFIN, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—In complete reports from 15 of 35 tobacco-growing counties, growers showed 1933 growers had signed production reduction agreements for the years 1934-35.

Harry L. Brown, assistant director of extension service of the University of Georgia, who is in charge of the campaign, made public the figures.

Brown said only 177 growers interviewed refused to sign.

The growers who had signed had a total of 21,334 acres in tobacco during the last three years of 16,970,072 pounds for the three years of 1934-35.

60,000,000 CROP BASIS

IS ASKED FOR GEORGIA DOUGLAS, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A tobacco production of 60 to 70 million pounds in 1934-1935 for Georgia growers has been asked by E. C. Westbrooke, tobacco specialist, and Dr. J. Phil Campbell, director of extension, under the reduction campaign of the agricultural adjustment administration.

J. B. Hutson, chief of the tobacco section, has advised Westbrooke that while the acreage for 1933-32-33 would be used as a base period for determining the acreage for 1934-35, the average would be approximately that of the 1933 crop, which produced about 60 million pounds.

Advices from Washington today said adjustment administration experts contemplated making a differential payment to flue-cured growers who already have reduced their 1933 crop, at the time the processing tax becomes effective October 1.

An estimate from Georgia said the growers of this state would receive $2,400,000 by retroactive participation in the funds to come from the processing tax.

Administration experts, however, for differential figures for rewarding flue-cured growers retroactively had not been worked out.

About 45 per cent of the flue-cured crop is subject to the processing tax, Hutson advised Westbrooke by wire, and the tax applies on tobacco when it enters into process of being manufactured into the form in which it is consumed.

Hutson said price adjustments are to be made to participating growers—those who sign contracts for 1934-35, who sold prior to closing of the markets, but the size of payment depends on the advance in prices after the market reopens. The parties to the last year's crop, Hutson said, were 15.6 cents, with this year's parity price higher. There will be one parity price for the entire flue-cured district.

Westbrooke said the flue-cured crop would be allowed to remain at 60 to 70 million pounds because of the decrease already made in this state. Anything less would make the crop unprofitable and would utilize the space of warehouses so that a profit could be realized.

State experts' elimination of 1932 crop figures from the basic period for determining the size of the crop for the next two years, because of the fact that the heavy freeze in the early spring which destroyed many plants and an attack of blue mold later in the season, to adjust to this figure in the basic period, Westbrooke said, would greatly interfere with the sign-up campaign in Georgia.

Hutson said that while it would not be possible to eliminate the 1932 figures, the base production for Georgia would be approximately the same as for 1933, while other states are urged to make material cut. He said plans were being considered to provide alternative methods of determining the base production in cases where the original plan would work on obvious injustices.

NUDITY GOES TOO FAR, SAY MACON OFFICIALS

MACON, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Bared backs and sun-tanned legs are nothing new under a Macon sun, but city officials believe they may become offensive to some persons if carried too far.

And now those who use the playgrounds must wear a shirt and a pair of their shorts, or a policeman will get them if they don't watch out.

Mrs. George Beggs, playground director, and Mayor Glen Toole agreed that some of the players "were almost naked." It seems they misplaced their shirts and, then, their shorts as high as possible to catch the cooling breezes.

So the mayor told Police Chief Ben Watkins and the chief of the cops and the cops told the players: "Shirts must go up and shorts down."

COLUMBUS PLANNING FIRE, POLICE STATIONS

COLUMBUS, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Columbus will apply to the Georgia public works advisory board for a loan of $20,000 to build a new fire headquarters station and make repairs on the police station.

The city commissioners have been considering the projects for some time and yesterday instructed City Manager Marshall Morton to make the application.

DRY LAW CONVICTIONS SCARCE IN AUGUSTA

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Nine of ten liquor law violation cases filed in city court here in a single day resulted in acquittals and the lone person convicted was paroled after being sentenced to six months.

Court attacks said the high percentage of acquittals was due to sentiment against the laws fostered by the 23-40 cent state tax which has been entered for repeal of the 18th amendment.

Babies Spend Penny Only at Blue Eagle

MAON, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Macon consumers who are looking for the Blue Eagle are looking for the Blue Eagle.

Two little negro children about three years old were running in a grocery store here. They were breathless. Their eyes searched the place until they discovered the Blue Eagle.

"There it is," said one. "All right," said the other and the two turned to the grocery clerk and their mother. Together they had one cent for candy.

NRA PAY TOO ALLURING FOR COTTON PICKERS

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A scarcity of cotton pickers, brought on by higher NRA wages in the cities, has left fields of this section unpickered and farmers begging for labor.

Miss Clarice Devere, relief administrator, said since farm labor is exempt from the 30-cent-an-hour wage under the recovery program, many cotton pickers are quitting the farm in order to be eligible for relief work.

Cotton pickers are paid 40 cents to 50 cents a hundred pounds and few are able to pick more than 300 pounds in a day.

She said the relief rolls in Augusta would be waded for laborers who have deserted the farms and they will not be given relief work. She invited farmers who need pickers to list their names with her and those who refused will be advised to return to the farms.

C. C. CAMP TO MOVE BECAUSE OF MALARIA

FORT McPHERSON, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Fourth corps army headquarters here today announced that the citizens conservation corps camp located at Hatcher's Mill, near Waynesboro, would be moved to Telfairville, about three and one-half miles from the present site, in an effort to overcome reported malaria conditions.

During the past few weeks some 20 cases of malaria have developed in the camp, now located on low ground, army surgeons said. The cases have been moved to Fort Screven for treatment, in accordance with army policy.

LESLEY I. ENKINS PASSES AT EATON

Mother of Judge W. F. Jenkins Succumbs to Apoplexy in 84th Year.

EATONTON, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Lesley I. Enkins, 83, mother of Judge W. F. Jenkins of this city, died here tonight. She had been in feeble health for some time and suffered a stroke of apoplexy last night. She died at the end of Jenkins avenue.

Mrs. Jenkins was the widow of the late Judge W. F. Jenkins Sr., a leader in this county for many years. The family is widely known.

Mrs. Jenkins was born in Louisiana. She was a graduate of Vassar College.

Besides Judge Jenkins she is survived by another son, Rev. W. R. Jenkins, of Fairburn, Ga., and one daughter, Miss Clara Jenkins, of Eatonton.

Living grandchildren are George Jenkins, Atlanta; Mrs. Joe H. Owens, of Atlanta; Mrs. Sidney Howell, of White Plains, Ga.; Frank Jenkins, Fairburn; and Miss Lesley Jenkins, a student at Randolph-Macon College in Virginia.

The funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and interment will be at Pineview cemetery.

Mother, 87, Sister and Friend TALMAGE TO SPEAK AT OPENING OF BERRY

MOUNT BERRY, Sept. 15.—Governor Talmage, of Georgia, will speak tomorrow in Mount Berry chapel at the opening of the thirty-second year of Berry College and Mountain Schools. Governor Talmage will be introduced by Miss Martha Berry, founder and director, while Dr. G. Leland Green, president of the college, presides.

With a record enrollment of 1,100 students, a faculty staff of 120, the Berry chapel will be the largest in the South. The address of Georgia's distinguished executive, Students at Berry this year are enrolled from all eleven southern states, Georgia and Alabama being leading in the total number, followed closely by North Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Kentucky, South Carolina, Arkansas and West Virginia.

Alvin Johnston, regional director of the federal relief administration, Friday night said relief would be administered on the basis of need without respect to creed or color.

Addressing a meeting of some 250 whites and negroes in the Y. W. C. A. here, Johnston said the rule would apply to both direct relief and relief work and 30 cents an hour would be paid both white and negro laborers.

He said fear had been expressed that too high a wage scale would labor might disturb labor conditions in the south and added that in his opinion the low wage scale prevailing in the South is the cause of the standard down and done much to hold back the economic development of the south.

FEDERAL DEPARTMENT LAUDS ATLANTA POLICE

The co-operation of the Atlanta police department with the division of investigation of the United States department of justice, has been highly praised recently by John Edgar Hoover, division director. Fingerprints and information relating to criminal cases being sent to the Washington office daily, it was said.

The commendation came through the Birmingham office of the investigation division. Atlanta police also are aiding in amassing records and fingerprints of kidnappers and extortionists in the nation to identify such criminals, it was said. Fingerprint identification has been increasing in effectiveness since improvement in the identification of police departments in the United States. The identification bureau at Washington is said to be the largest in the world.

DOG BARKS WARNING OF APARTMENT FIRE

SWAINSBORO, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—The town of Swainsboro was alerted by the persistent barking of a small dog.

The Rev. M. Foster was awakened by the dog around 1 a. m. and discovered the lower floor of a neighboring apartment was afire.

The minister summoned the fire department, which managed to confine the blaze to one building, and a number of buildings on Swainsboro's main street.

Two Convicts Escape

APPLING, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Two negro convicts overpowered their guard and escaped from the Appling county jail here today, forcing them to accompany the prisoners several miles in an automobile belonging to the guard and escaped from the jail near the Savannah river. The guards were released unharmed.

FORESTRY CAMP MEN GAIN TON IN WEIGHT

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Sept. 15.—Two thousand pounds—one ton—divided by 190 men means about 10.1-2 pounds each man. That is the increase in weight made by the members of the civilian conservation corps at Camp Meriwether since they arrived here several months ago.

A combination of wholesome food, properly cooked; healthy exercise in the outdoors; plenty of sleep; and the fact that the members of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, and general salubrious living conditions have made the corps a ton more robust since it first broke ground for Camp Meriwether.

Turpentine Operators Hope A New That U. S. Plan Will Save Industry

By CLYDE BEALE

VALDOSTA, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—After months of fighting to overcome the lowest prices they have received in years for their products, turpentine operators of the southern belt are enthusiastic about the proposed plan of the secretary of agriculture which they are hoping will put their industry on its financial feet again.

They convened here Thursday—500 of them—coming from Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, and the Carolinas to try to work out some plan by which "spirits" may be bolstered and the industry stabilized.

Operators have not made money during the past four years and it's been a hard task to provide food and clothing for the thousands of hands they employ during the season. One operator attending the meeting here Thursday said: "I'm sorry to say that there are hands on my place who are literally starving."

Seventy-seven per cent of the operators attending the meeting here voted in favor of the agreement. These producers represent the heaviest yielding turpentine belt in the world.

The agreement and the number of votes cast for it are being submitted to the secretary of agriculture and turpentine farmers are eagerly awaiting his decision on the matter.

Under the proposed agreement of the secretary of agriculture producers would agree to co-operate in a system which would control and regulate the sales of turpentine and gum resin so there would be no surplus placed on the markets of the country. A survey would be made each year in order to determine the amount of turpentine on hand and the amount that would be needed for the ensuing year. Licensed producers would then be allotted their share toward furnishing the demand and care would be taken to prevent an oversupply going to the markets. Licensing producers and tagging the barrels and other containers of turpentine would be used to carry out the system.

The secretary would be empowered to prohibit shipment of stores by non-co-operating producers, penalize all violators of the agreement and perform other acts for the betterment of the industry.

Citizens of Four Counties Form Organization for Highway Plan.

THOMSON, Ga., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A permanent organization of citizens of four counties to urge paving of gaps in the highway from Athens to Florida, connecting with routes from the east, has been organized here.

Citizens of Wilkes, Clarke, Oglethorpe and McDuffie counties were represented.

The unpaved portions are nine miles in Oglethorpe county beginning at the Clarke county line, and 21 miles in Wilkes and McDuffie counties from Washington to Thomson. Both of these sections have been graded and are ready for paving.

John J. Callaway, of Wilkes county, was named chairman of the permanent group and B. L. Cheney, also of Wilkes, clerk.

JAP "SPOKESMAN" TO VISIT AMERICA, TARGET FOR JIBES

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Shiratori, the man who was named "Japan's foreign office spokesman" famous, sailed today for his new diplomatic post in the Scandinavian countries by way of the United States.

Shiratori, the new minister to Sweden, Denmark, Iceland and Finland, will arrive at Vancouver, British Columbia, September 27 and then spend three months in America, renewing his knowledge of the country which for the past two years has been the principal target of his verbal shafts.

Chief of the information bureau of the foreign office he was the chief link of the Japanese government and world press.

Shiratori, a "foreign office spokesman," who replied to the blunt notes of Secretary of State Stimson, of the United States, after the Japanese army began its conquest of Manchuria, in September, 1931.

One of his most widely published remarks was a reply to a correspondent who asked early in 1932 whether Japan would recognize the newly-formed state of Manchukuo at an early date.

"We are in no hurry," was Shiratori's reply. "We haven't any canal to build there."

BELMONT RACE TO SETTLE TITLE FOR JUVENILES

Two Dozen Horses Ready for Turf's Richest
Purse Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Two dozen of the country's leading two-year-olds will settle the juvenile championship in the 44th running of the turf's richest race, the $100,000 Futurity, at Belmont Park tomorrow.

The mighty Equinoxe, the only stand-out thoroughbred of the season, also will be on the program, seeking his eighth straight victory of the year in the $5,000 Jockey Club cup, but for once the little chestnut will have to yield interest to the colts and fillies, which have yet to earn their spurs.

Three years ago Equinoxe, then just a promising two-year-old from C. V. Whitney's barn, was beaten by Jamestown, carrying the silks of George D. Widener, in the Futurity.

NO EQUIPOISE.

No Jamestown or Equinoxe has appeared in "dress rehearsals" for the Futurity this year, and the race is the largest field since Marshall Field's High Strung whipped 23 others in 1928 in expected to face Starter George Cassidy at about 3 p. m. eastern standard time.

With three leading fillies, including E. R. Bradley's Bazaar, winner of the Hopeful, either not eligible or out of training, Mrs. Dodge Sloane's High Quest probably will be the 2 to 1 choice. The son of Sir Gallahad III, second in the Hopeful, had his final workout over a sloppy racing strip yesterday and stepped the Futurity route of six and three-quarter furlongs in the good time of 1:25 flat.

My Payne Whitney's Greenlee stable will call on Black Buddy, an early season sensation with victories in the National Stallion and Juvenile stakes, and the equally swift First Minstrel. As their final tuneup, the pair worked seven furlongs in 1:28.5. George D. Widener had two speedy colts in Kawage, winner of the Futurity last year, and Chieftain Ready. Their final workout was a slow mile in 1:32.5.

WHITNEY ENTRY.
The popular Blue and Brown Silks, carried by a pair of favorites, will be won by C. V. Whitney's High Quest, which led home a smart band of 2-year-old fillies in the $18,000 Matron stakes. She will have two or three running mates, picked from Sassafras, Goose Fiech and Housaboot.

With the failure of Charles T. Fisher's Star and Mita Hari to qualify, the west's chief hope is Warren Wright's Hades. The youthful master of the Calumet farm also is expected to start some Pom, while E. R. Bradley, with Bazaar ineligible because of her English birth, will rely on Blue Azalea.

The remainder of the starting field will come from the Argosy stable's Bongo, W. R. Coe's Pompanian, the Fair Field stable's Hesperus, and the Shadwell's Saladin and Gentle Knight. Samuel Rhodes's Holystone, A. R. Gordon's Sir Thomas, Mrs. John D. Hertz's Contessa, W. R. Kilmer's Sun Temple, Mrs. T. J. Lewis' Top High, A. C. Schwartz's Spoilt Beauty, Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Singing Willow, E. Widener's Peace Chance and William Ziegler Jr.'s Bonanza.

SPEER TO MEET REAL OPPOSITION

Stocky Frank Speer, the old Tech Yellow Jacket, expects opposition in a big way next Tuesday night in the semi-final of the wrestling championship. He will meet the Russian giant, Ivan Vachutov, who is a tremendous strength. And it is in the speed and cunning of Speer that the equalizing factors lie.

Speer is recognized in the east for his improved manner of wrestling. He is heralded as a comer.

In the feature match George Zaharias, Greek back man, and Jack Cox, Kansas City villain, will meet. Zaharias enjoys about third-rank popularity in Atlanta. Only London and Staur rank above him in the esteem of the fans.

Tickets are on sale at Miner & Carter and the Piedmont Hatters.

Villa Rica Loses To Buford in Final

Buford, Ga., Sept. 15.—Buford closed its baseball season with a 1-0 victory over Villa Rica here this afternoon. Crowe pitched steadily all the way and scattered six hits throughout the nine innings and was never in serious trouble.

Buford scored its only run in the sixth inning off Herrick's ball. Manager Baxter's single and Turner's double. Ed Copeland made a fine running catch in the outfield for Villa Rica for the fielding season of the game.

Villa Rica resumes its West Georgia league championship series Saturday in Douglasville against Douglasville.

Notre Dame, Navy Will Meet in 1934

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Joseph S. Silber, manager of the Cleveland stadium, today announced Notre Dame and Navy will meet in a football game here in 1934.

Date for the game will not be announced until Notre Dame's schedule for next year is completed, Silber said. Contrary to the game, technically a home contest for Notre Dame, was received by Silber this afternoon.

Notre Dame and Navy played here last year, giving Cleveland its first major intercollegiate football match in recent years.

GAME OFF.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The scheduled football game between the University of Michigan and University of Mississippi at a Century of Progress Exposition has been canceled. It was announced today, because the Mississippi commission informed officials of the exposition that it could not go through with its plans. The game was set for September 23.

Ralph McGill's Football Review

(Editor's Note: Following is the fifth of a series of articles by Ralph McGill, Constitution sports editor, dealing with the football teams in the southeastern conference. Ralph McGill is now on a tour of the football camps and his articles will give Constitution readers complete and first-hand information on the various teams and players.)

Kentucky
LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 15.—It was a symphony by Bach which wrecked the Georgia Tech Engineers on Grant field last fall during the visit by Kentucky.

This was a symphony of legs, hips and arms. The introduction was by Ralph Kercheval; the interlude was by Howard Kreuter and the motif by Bach—Stanley Bach.

For Tech it was the funeral march. And I found the same trio of composers at work here today—Kercheval and Kreuter and Bach. They are the lads who worked that lateral forward pass last year to beat the Georgia Tech team. There was considerable row about it at the time, some critics claiming that it was two forward passes. And that it is very, very illegal. The composers say it was legal. So I guess it was. In fact I know it was. If you look in the record books you will find that Kentucky beat Georgia Tech. So it was legal.

This Stanley Bach is really a descendant of the famous composer. Which may explain why he is able to compose so much grief for Georgia Tech. He married last winter, did the young Kentucky end. It was then that Coach Alexander, the perpetual hater of womankind, said, "I knew justice would finally catch up with him."

But young Bach is playing great football this season. In fact I found him and Kreuter and Kercheval together busy on a new movement in the flat zone. It's called "When the Yellow Jackets Swarm at Old Stoll Field, We Will Put Them in a Hive."

Georgia Tech plays Kentucky here on October 7, and I found the Kentucky coaches interested in Clemson. They hope that Clemson has a good strong team. They hope that Clemson is unusually powerful. You see, Clemson is first on the Georgia Tech schedule.

The Tech game seems to be the big game to the Wildcats. They are interested in winning the game for the second consecutive year. There are three games that count most of the ten on the Kentucky card. They are Tech and Alabama and Tennessee. And Tech happens to be the first one.

TEN-GAME SCHEDULE.
The Kentucky schedule contains ten games and is a test which is rather difficult. Maryville, Sewanee, Georgia Tech, Cincinnati, W. & L. Duke, Alabama, V. M. I., Tulane and Tennessee do not make up the easiest card one might encounter.

There will be a great deal said about the size of the Kentucky team. And it will be large. But it remains to be seen if the Kentucky team will be fast enough. A big team in those days of southern football may be a handicap unless the big fellows can pick them up and lay them down.

Kentucky has sophomore trouble—the same trouble which a lot of coaches have. About half the main squad is made up of sophomores. If they develop Kentucky will be tougher than usual. If they don't then the coaches don't know where to turn.

GAMAGE USES TECH SHIFT.
Tech will be a bit amazed when the Kentuckians come on. Coach Harry Gamage has given them the old Tech backfield formation. It is the same tandem with the quarterback handling the ball with the heel of his pants up against the heel of the center's football bloomers.

Gamage has changed his formations often. Last year he tried out the Alabama style and the year before he was using something of a modified Notre Dame style. This year he is using Tech's backfield style with the balanced line.

Gamage seeks to find some style which will fit his material. This year he has a fast line, one which he believes will mean more opportunities for line plays.

The quarterback handling the ball means an advantage for line plungers. And I think this is what Gamage is planning. He doesn't think his pass attack will be so good, although he has in Kercheval a passer of excellence. And also a punter, probably the greatest punter in Dixie. This fall they have Kercheval doing most of the passing, the kicking, calling the signals and also depend on him for carrying the ball on the important plays. I did not wait around to see if they also used him to mark off the field, clean up the gymnasium and so on. But he has a lot of chores.

TWO ENDS ARE VETERANS.
Kentucky's ends are veterans—Joe Rupert, a junior, and Howard Kreuter, a senior. Bryant, a sophomore, and Frye, a senior, are the leading reserves. The ends weigh about 180 pounds each, which is the ideal weight for ends.

The tackles are the answer to a coach's prayer insofar as weight is concerned. But they are brand-new and untried.

There is Bill Jobe, for instance, of Youngstown, Ohio. Bill weighs just 245 pounds and stands 6 feet and 3 inches in his sock feet. And Wade Aulich, from Latawiec, where the hosses run, weighs 219. He is another sophomore. Waggoner and Murphy, both juniors, will see service, one of them likely making a regular position. They weigh about 180 each.

The backs are young men weighing about 225 each. And they are veterans of last fall. Bill Fick, a Lexington boy, weighs 225, and Bud Davidson, from nearby Evansville, weighs 215. Tichenor and Potter, both Kentucky boys and weighing 190 each, are the leading reserves.

Kentucky is well set at guard. And will be difficult to move. But there is still the problem of speed. I did not forget that.

The center will be new. Ernest Jones, who played some last fall, and Robert Dickey and Al Olah, all weighing about 200 each, are the leading candidates.

THE BACKFIELD.
The backfield finds Ralph Kercheval as the only sure man. This means they have some sophomores who are good. One of them is a Tennessee boy, Norris McMillen, from Millington, Tenn. He weighs but 152 pounds but is fast and shows signs of being a pass catcher and a good ball carrier.

Stan Bach, composer of misery for Georgia Tech, is also a candidate of ability and sure to play a great deal. Tom Cassidy, a junior, is another experienced back.

Three more sophomores, Jack Jean, of Owensboro; Bob Pritchard, of Princeton (Kentucky and not New Jersey), and Elmer Simpson, from Bardonia (My Old Kentucky Home), are three young men who look good to the Kentucky coaches. In fact, we may as well make it four more by adding Filmore Gilmer. They each weigh about 170 pounds and along with the lighter McMillen make up a good-looking lot of prospects. And explain why Kercheval is the only sure starter in the backfield.

Kentucky should be better than last year. But all depends on the sophomore development. Meanwhile they are training their guns toward the Georgia Tech game.

Robin Thurmond Is the Name; Three-Year Wrong Is Righted

By Jack Troy.
If there is any one thing that particularly irks the great American public it is in seeing his or her name misspelled in print.

Maybe it's a sense of family pride; undoubtedly it is in many cases. On the other hand, it may be a case of just plain ego.

The particular point in bringing up this subject is to point out that for more than three years the name of Georgia Tech's captain-elect has been fruitfully misspelled and mispronounced.

And the funny part of it is, he has never mentioned it.

"GIFT ALIAS."
Bob Thurmond has been going under an alias for three years at Oglethorpe because this one and that one said his name was "Thurmond" and trusting scribbles let it go at that. It wasn't his name and they do him wrong.

Well, all good and bad things must end. It happened that this thing was not so good. The writer asked Thurmond how he spelled his name after his election as captain Thursday afternoon. He said "Thurmond." The writer had to spell it out to make sure.

The reason that Thurmond has never complained about the misspelling of his name is because of a modest, retiring nature that has made him one of the most popular students on the campus.

LEADING STUDENT.
He is president of the student faculty council and, therefore, a leading student. On the football field he is consistent, but not outstanding.

Even his first name is a gift. He calls him Bob, but his given name is Robin. (He's hoping he will be a Robin Hood at end for Oglethorpe this year.)

Some of the writing boys continue to misspell Thurmond's name but in the name of blessed justice I hope they get right.

There should be some kind of a medal for fellows like Captain-elect Robin Thurmond, of Madison, Ga.

GIANTS TAKE TWO FROM CUBS, TIGHTEN HOLD

National Leaders Fast
Closing Gap in Drive for Pennant.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Taking advantage of their first day in Chicago during the present series, the New York Giants virtually crushed the Cubs' National league pennant hopes by beating them in both ends of a double-header, 5 to 1, and 4 to 0.

This defeat dropped the Cubs into third place, one percentage point below the Pittsburgh Pirates, and it enabled the Giants to extend their league lead to seven and a half games over both the Pirates and Cubs. They evened the Cubs-Giants series at two games each, with tomorrow's double-header remaining.

Tight pitching and timely hitting featured both victories. Hal Schumacher registered his 19th win of the season in the opener when he limited the Cubs to six hits, and Roy Parmelee and Herman Bell let them down with two in the second game.

BELL STARS.
Bell's masterly relief pitching featured the day's play. He replaced Parmelee in the third with the bases loaded and retired the next 16 batters in order before allowing a hit. Bill Herman's ninth-inning single. Then he retired the next three batters to end the game. Adolph Camilli had singled in the second inning off Parmelee's counting for the Cubs' two safeties.

In the first game, the Giants collected 10 hits off Tinning, Malone, Parmelee and Herman Bell. They scored three runs in the ninth. George Davis, Giants' outfielder, and Pitcher Pat Malone of the Cubs, were banished in the eighth in the victory.

When Davis claimed Malone deliberately interfered with his running to first.

In the second contest the Giants hammered Lon Warneke, ace of the Cubs' staff, for 14 hits, including Mel Ott's homer in the fourth. They combined two singles, a double and a wild pitch for 10 runs. The Braves collected a total of 11 hits off Smith, Dudley and Chagnon while Big Ed Brandt led the Pirates to nine hits and one run.

PIRATES CRUSHED.
The Pirates were crushed by Boston, 10 to 1, when the Braves bunched 10 singles in the third and fourth innings for 10 runs. The Braves collected a total of 11 hits off Smith, Dudley and Chagnon while Big Ed Brandt led the Pirates to nine hits and one run.

Brooklyn downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 2, behind Van Mungo's six-hit pitching. The Dodgers bunched 15 hits in the eighth and ninth innings, including Hack Wilson's homer in the sixth. They bunched six hits for six runs in the fourth. The cards contributed three errors.

Cincinnati and the Philadelphia Phillies split a twin bill. The Phils took the opener, 4 to 0, when Rube Breggie Grawski limited the Reds to two hits while the Cards collected eight off Johnson and Frey. Cincinnati came back to take the second game, 3 to 1, when Jim Bottomley drove in all the Reds' runs with a double in the eighth.

In the sixth he scored Adams with the fly, and in the eighth, with the score tied at 1-1, his double sent Moore to the plate.

Rain washed out all games in the American league.

GIANTS 4-1, CUBS 1-0.
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(UPI)—The New York Giants took two from the Chicago Cubs in a double-header today, 5 to 1 and 4 to 0.

The Giants' victory in the first game was a 5 to 1 win over the Cubs. The Cubs' pitcher, Lon Warneke, was out of the game in the fourth inning.

Two Stars Clash Here Today

ROBBY GROOMS RESERVE SQUAD

By Kirby Kemp,
Coach Harry Robertson put his Oglethorpe football team through a stiff scrimmage Friday afternoon to strengthen the reserve material.

Coach "Robby" is grooming his reserve players for plenty of action in the coming campaign.

Hoyle Farmer, sophomore, went like a house afire in Friday's scrimmage against the freshmen. He repeatedly broke loose for long runs behind perfect interference by Leslie, Borman and Mettrick, backs, and Heriot, running guard.

Coach Harry Robertson has drilled his backs so that they click perfectly on interference. He remarked Thursday, after the scrimmage, "I have two exceptionally good blocking backs in Hildreth and Mettrick, but the other backs are also good at blocking."

Coach Robertson put his backs through an extended drill blocking the dummy, while assistant coaches Fulton and Morrison, and Patrick, Petrel trainer, put the linemen through a "two-and-one" offensive drill.

The scrimmage was preceded by a long session of punting and passing drills. The linemen were drilled in the line drill by the linemen. The Petrel punters did not show up so well.

The Petrel coach has uncovered an unexpected field general in Phil Hill, who will call signals from the fullback position. Hildreth, a senior, has a cool head and knows football thoroughly.

Earl Mann Is Lucky; Wheeling Wins Flag

Atlanta Boy Has Been Secretary to Five Clubs,
All Pennant Winners.

By Jimmy Jones.
You can have your four-leaf clover, your graveyard rabbit's feet, your dried buckeyes and other alleged good luck charms. I'll take Mr. Earl Mann, the Atlanta boy, who has been secretary to five different baseball clubs in the last several years, all five of which won a pennant.

Just what strange powers Mr. Mann exercises over the baseball fans, we do not know, but that he is a purveyor of good fortune in lavish quantities, there seems to be not the slightest doubt.

The other day an Atlanta boy who has known Earl since his knee-pants days telephoned to know if he had heard about the Wheeling (W. Va.) team, of which Earl is secretary and Jack Sheehan is manager, winning the Middle Atlantic league last half.

Bible Game Facts

The Bible Game's farewell week.

When the hands of the clock point straight upward Wednesday night, the final hour will have been reached. Soon after, checkers and judges will tackle their job of naming the winners of the $1,800 in cash prizes.

In order to accommodate readers who need any of the back pictures to replace those that may have become lost, soiled, or mutilated, duplicates of numbers from through 80 are being kept on hand by the circulation department, located on the first floor of The Constitution building. These duplicate pictures are also handy for making up extra sets, on which alternative verse-answers may be written. The rules permit any contestant to submit as many complete sets as he or she desires, thus gaining extra opportunities to win.

Bible Game Facts

NANCY PAGE

This Room Uses a Bed Spread For Curtains
BY FLORENCE L. GANKE.

In Clara's apartment which she was furnishing with the things her mother had used and which really needed to be placed in spacious old rooms she found almost as many problems as there were pieces of furniture.

Her landlord had repaired one bedroom and the dining room. The dining room was done in a white paper with diamond pattern. The small bedroom with the flowered paper repeated that diamond motif which reappeared again in the other bedroom. By repeating a unit many times an effect of unity was gained.

which was badly needed in this small apartment.

For curtains in the one bedroom, Clara chose unbleached muslin and stitched bias tape on in diamonds of rose. The lamp shade was white tied with a rose cord. The base of the lamp was white. The ash curtains were rose organza.

A chair was slip covered in unbleached muslin with bands of bias tape in rose stitched on in diamond pattern.

In the second bedroom the landlord had given the room a plain white paper. Or at least it seemed plain for it had an almost invisible stripe in yellow.

For this room she purchased a candlewick bedspread on creamy white with the candlewicking in the same white. She split this bedspread and made a pair of curtains which she tied back with white cords.

The bed used a second bedspread of candlewicking.

Her lamp shade was buttercup yellow and the base was green. There was green in the carpet and her pictures were flower prints with many shades of green and a few pale yellow flowers.

The makers and advertisers of radios in enumerating the respective points of excellence of their products frequently refer to what is termed selectivity. This means the ability of the particular radio to pick up any one out of a great number of stations without the interference of other stations. Every human mind is a radio machine; its excellence, its efficiency, and its effectiveness hinges on its selectivity, because the mind is the motor in which is centered all the propelling, compelling, constraining and restraining forces in life.

Take a group of children and put them in a room full of toys of every description: Mechanical toys, games, dolls, blocks, balls, drawing materials, water colors and what-not. Instantly each child will select what is congenial with his conception of pleasure. An acquaintance recently returned from the Exposition of Progress relates an incident which is a good illustration of this selectivity. "They scattered like sheep," said he, "some choosing the midway, some the left, some the right, some the industrial exhibits, some horticultural exhibits, so that anybody taking a census of the choices made by these people at the end of the day would have been able to catalog the group accurately."

A party of young girls goes to Europe and from the conversation they have with friends and families upon their return one may get a pretty good picture of their respective interests and ambitions. One has seen art galleries and come home with a new perception of this great creative force of the world. Another has seen Paris shops, the creations of the couturiers and the coiffeurs; another has centered her attention on the social life of the night clubs, and yet another on the natural beauty of the scenery, the landscapes, the flowers and trees, the quaint peasant life, the houses of the country; while yet another has laid hold on everything of historic value; the homes of great men, the tombs of heroes, the memorials built to honor conquerors, kings and princes, the scenes of notable battles, the rooms in which great events have been signed, the museums in which are housed documents that have changed the course of nations.

Q. If I paste paper neatly under

Everybody can't go to the exposition and relatively few go to Europe, but at home or abroad, on the land or the sea, everybody is selecting, selecting, and in this selection everyone is tracing the course of his or her life and advertising to the world the texture of mind, the type of character, the capacity for growth and development that he or she may possess.

The young child may be taught to select what is good and worth while but only if his parents and teachers have learned for themselves. The child may be directed but the adult's selection is settled when he becomes an adult.

Would you know yourself, reader? You have but to consider what you instinctively select and sail down from your reading, from your daily contacts with people and your experiences with events. Would you know your husband's, wife's, children, sweethearts, friends and acquaintances? You have but to observe them in the act of selecting, what friends they choose, what hobbies, what life work; what interests are accented, what charities supported, what books read, what methods are employed in business and in social life. These selections they make from the time they get up in the morning until they go to bed at night. When you have observed these things in your own life and in the lives of others, you have come to know yourself and them.

We may not always be able to get the things we choose. We may be sometimes thwarted in the exercise of our "free will," but the subjective selection is the cue to our characters. In what William James calls "the deepest part of the mind, the dumb region of the heart in which we dwell alone with our willingness, our faiths and fears," in this dumb region we make our choices; while yet another has laid hold on everything of historic value; the homes of great men, the tombs of heroes, the memorials built to honor conquerors, kings and princes, the scenes of notable battles, the rooms in which great events have been signed, the museums in which are housed documents that have changed the course of nations.

Defense Bidding of Opponents' Suit

BY ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Bids in the opponents' suit are usually made as strong Slam tries. In addition to promising control of the suit they also guarantee a grade of strength and the possibility of reaching a makable Slam contract. Every now and then, however, one of these bids is made for defensive purposes. In cases like these the original bidders of the suit, if they are alert, usually realize that they are in danger and refrain from bidding any more. Sometimes, however, these tactics are successful, as proved by the following hand. Mr. Franklin Bailey, of New York, was sitting East.

East Dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

East South West North

2♥(3) 4♠(4) Pass 4♥(5)
5♠(6) Dbl.(7) 5♥(8) 5♠(9)
Pass Pass Pass

1—Just about a minimum for a vulnerable Overcall.

2—With his partner able to make a vulnerable Overcall the game must be certain. North is justified in shading the requirements for his bid.

3—Mr. Bailey chose at this point to rebid the hearts rather than bid the diamonds as he wanted to bid the latter suit later and allow his partner a choice. By bidding diamonds he might force himself to rebid hearts at the range of five.

4—Based only on distribution.

5—Now showing support for partner. This is an extremely brilliant bid, although somewhat dangerous. It is apparent that the opponents have a game and that this game has been defeated only by unusual means. If a heart is opened against five spades Mr. Bailey can see very little hope of defeating this contract. With a club opening, however, there is a chance.

6—If doubled, his plan was to go to five diamonds, offering his partner a choice between diamonds and hearts.

7—Rather a pointless gesture.

8—West finally decides that it is time to show his partner that he holds adequate trump support.

9—North should have read the danger signals and doubled; but he was loath to give up a vulnerable game for a penalty the size of which was very doubtful.

In the play Mr. Bailey's highest expectations were fulfilled. West opened a club suit per orders and Mr. Bailey ruffed. His troubles were not over, however, as he was now forced to lead a low heart, hoping against hope that his partner held the Queen. As it happened his partner did hold the Queen and Mr. Bailey was allowed to ruff a second round of clubs. Five spades was therefore defeated 1-1.

Of course five hearts is a rather disastrous contract. If a singleton diamond is opened North and South must take the Ace of diamonds, 2 spade tricks and two ruffs in diamonds. However, this would only be a penalty of 450, which would not be such a terrible price as against a vulnerable game. Although Mr. Bailey's bidding was undoubtedly very ambitious, he was certainly entitled to his reward.

Decision Is Reserved
In Sturdiant Case

Judge Jesse M. Wood, of criminal court of Atlanta, Friday afternoon reserved his decision after hearing argument on a demurrer filed by Chief of Police J. O. Sturdiant to indictment charging him with cheating and swindling in connection with solicitations for the police yearbook and police benefit fund.

The state was represented by Solicitor John S. McClelland, of criminal court, and City Attorney James L. McPherson, of Atlanta. Sam H. Hewlett appeared for the defendant.

One of the principal issues argued before Judge Wood was whether or not the indictments were sufficient in view of the fact that they involved representations as to future action rather than existing conditions. This issue is based on the charge that contributors were told that their money would go to the police benefit fund, whereas 75 per cent went to Krein and 25 per cent went to the fund.

Warm, Fair Week-End
Forecast for Atlanta

A warm, clear Saturday, with a temperature range of 71 to 80 degrees, was forecast Friday by the weather bureau. No rain was in sight. Friday's looked-for coolness failed to materialize, the temperature ranging from 68 to 86. Winds from the Bahamas storm which were expected to blow inland got no farther west than the coast. There was no rainfall.

Four Married Women
To Be Dropped by P. O.

Four married women clerks in the Atlanta postoffice whose husbands also work there were ordered dropped Friday in instructions received by Postmaster E. K. Large from Washington. A fifth married woman employee, who works in the railway mail service, signified her willingness to resign to save the job of her husband, a postoffice worker.

This action was in line with a recent order from Washington directing postmasters to designate those employees who could be discharged with the least personal deprivation. The discharge is effective on September 30.

Service Star Legion Executive Board Is Presided Over by Mrs. White

Executive Board of the Georgia division, Service Star Legion, held its pre-convention meeting on Friday morning at Rich's tea room, with the president, Mrs. Warren D. White, presiding. There was representation from each S. S. L. chapter in the state, and the presidents made fine reports of their work in the interest of the Disabled American Veterans and their families. Several chapters have formulated plans for enlarging their territory and increasing their activities for the coming year's work.

Officers and chairmen pledged anew their interest, especially in relief work, education and sisterhood. A report was made of the visit to the George W. Williams school at Nacoochee, where three children of a Disabled American Veteran are being educated by S. S. L. of Georgia. Mrs. Warren D. White, the newly elected president, read a list of objectives which she hopes to accomplish during her administration. The main work for the year is listing and recording for future history and generations, the records of every Georgia boy that served in the World War, and another is a list of the Gold Star mothers with the record of their boys' services. Mrs. Stacy Earnest Hill presented the Service Star Legion with a bookcase which belonged to her father, Dr. G. J. Earnest, and the records obtained will be filed in the case at Rhodes Memorial Hall archives of history.

A luncheon was served at 1 o'clock with Mrs. J. C. Mellichamp, chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. L. P. Rosser and Mrs. Marcus Beck. The luncheon table was decorated with vases and baskets of flowers and the colors of the S. S. L., the Service Star, were displayed with the United States flag and the Confederate flag in honor of General J. L. Driver, an honored guest, commander of Georgia division, United Confederate Veterans. The guests at the speakers' table were introduced by the president and brought greetings from their organizations, including Quimby Melton, past commander, Georgia division, American Legion; Miss Noina Michael, the Poppy Lady; John M. Slaton Jr., Veterans' bureau; Mrs. T. W. Withaff, past president National Service Star Legion; Mrs. J. J. Harris, past president Georgia division.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—

Stocks acquired a decided list in the final dealings today when selling became fairly active. The market had an upturn following a period of irregularity and indecision. Net losses were in a 1-to-4 point range, while the rail index advanced approximately 2,500,000 shares.

Commodities, on the other hand, were reasonably steady for the most part. Wheat acted erratically, closing with small variations from Thursday, but cotton was up a bit.

The dollar's break to a new low helped maintain staple prices, even though it offered no aid to stock prices. Our currency unit went under 60 cents, gold value; conversely, the gold market reached new highs and the treasury's daily price for the metal jumped 64 cents to $30.41 an ounce, a rise of $1.31 from Monday.

On the stock exchange, mining and tobacco shares made occasional sales, but response was lacking from other sectors after the initial firmness. Utilities again hogged down, joined by the wheat and later by the rail index. Industrials lacked resistance when the downswing began. United States Steel, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, American Telephone & Cable, New York Central, United States Industrial Alcohol, United States Smelting, American Commercial Alcohol, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, and Service of New Jersey and Southern Pacific sagged 2 to 3, approximately. United Fruit and National Distillers products lost 4. Homestake halved a 12-point rise.

The dollar's drop, a reflection of inflation rumors abroad which exchange specialists are presently not neglecting to make use of, coincided with a weak European market for French francs. That currency's position against the dollar, which had been raised a question here of whether gold would be drawn from Paris to Holland, Switzerland or Belgium and reviewed by the Federal Reserve, was a factor in the decline. Late selling of stocks was associated by some brokers with the feeling that the market might be severe; such reports were frequently and on occasion they have been accompanied by a weakening share market.

Trade news of small import, but Wall Street found occupation in talking over developments along the credit expansion front, as well as renewed orthodox inflation. The $700,000,000 in excess reserves of central banking system members—a record high—seems an impressive figure to many bankers who face what they believe to be an indefinitely long period of extremely cheap money.

Dun & Bradstreet reported an "extension of the sustained buying movement" in retail and wholesale trade. The agency's reports from various sectors are generally encouraging in its weekly review, the "rapid disappearance of suspense and apprehension" which marked the period prior to general adoption of the industrial codes.

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (UP)—Wall Street tonight surveyed a confused market situation. Prices had receded after early signs of strength indicating that the market might be expected in tomorrow's two-hour session would be an unconvincing trend.

There were some who predicted the decline would continue until next week. Others hoped for a rise at the next opening.

Inflation commanded great attention over the market today and gives every indication of continuing to do so until some definite announcement is made.

WEAK FACTORS.

The following factors, which brought weakness today, probably will be felt again tomorrow:

United Press Adviser from Washington said that President Roosevelt probably will give some explanation of the American monetary policy within the next 30 days. This would cause traders, who have been expecting a rise expected with inflation, to sell.

A general dissatisfaction with the proposal for easier credit, announced by Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, if that is to be the only inflation to be tried now.

The inflation trend among many traders that cannot be expected until after January 1 and then only through the efforts of congress.

Indices which have been market barometers today pointed toward higher prices. The dollar weakened, the French franc touching a new peak for the present currency. Commodity prices advanced.

REACTING TO CLOSE

By BERNARD S. O'HARA.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—

Early firmness in the curb market faded today under the influence of heaviness in utilities.

Initial advances in alcohol and metals were converted into losses of fractions to more than a point under heavy selling that increased in the last hour.

Recessions in the power group ran as high as 3 points in active issues, Columbia Gas & Electric preferred and Consolidated Gas of Baltimore lost 2 and 3 points, respectively. Electric Bond & Share and American Gas & Electric yielded 1 1/2 apiece. The possibility of the government operated Muscle Shoals plant offering power at reducing rates was instrumental in the selling.

Oils turned reactionary, Humble, Gulf and Standard Oil of Ohio each sagged 2 points or more. Wide losses were registered in a number of specialties. Singer Manufacturing, which has been moving up recently, slumped 2 1/2 points. Rust Free lost 3 while Pan American Airways eased nearly as much.

Aluminum company of America closed 1/2 point lower. The small point or more occurred in Hiram Walker, Distillers Corporation-Sears, Roebuck and Armstrong Cork. The latter two lost an isolated firm, spot, gained 1-2.

Transfers approximated 400,000 shares compared with 388,000 yesterday.

Trade Review Notes

Increase in Spending

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Reports from all parts of the country this week to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., emphasize the enlarged spending power running into millions of dollars and the disappearance of suspense and apprehension noted before the NRA was general support.

The company's weekly review of business said that the feeling of merchants now are beginning to feel the benefit of the increased employment and the higher earnings of the working classes.

"Of dominant importance in the Trade News this week," says today's review, "was the extension to the sustained buying movement to more remote ramifications of the elongated line which the business front now has assumed."

SOUTHERN TO CUT OFF

ABOUT 1,500 WORKERS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 15.—(AP)—C. H. Hudson, superintendent of the Southern Railway System, said here today that an unestimated number of shop employees would be discontinued effective Monday.

Mr. Hudson would give no indication of the number of men to be affected, but reports in railway circles here that between 1,500 and 1,600 would be cut off over the entire Southern system.

Hudson said the cut was necessary because the shopmen, who have been working 32 hours per week, voted among themselves to return to a 40-hour schedule, making a reduction in the working force necessary.

For adventure, yet it was almost with shame that he assisted in the taking of the plane. Ere he emerged, Eve emerged from the crowd at the edge of the landing field and walked to Ransdell, and Tony saw the light in her eyes which comes to a woman when she is about to take a great adventure. Tony walked around to the other side of the plane and stayed there until Eve had said good-by to the pilot.

Most of the more prominent members of the colony were shaking hands with Vandenberg and Eliot James. Vandenberg's farewell words were delectable and light. "I'll see you in the future," he said, "in the latest developments." Eliot James was receiving last-minute advice from the scientists,

"Yes, I know," Eve replied simply.
